Jacob Spon Roland Étienne 1995 Jacob Spon né à Lyon en 1647 est une belle figure de la " crise de la conscience européenne " du Grand Siècle. Médecin, alors que la médecine est encore un discours plutôt qu'une science, il tire de sa formation un regard aiguisé et le sens de l'observation qui lui permettent d'occuper une place de choix parmi les savants qui ont contribué à la naissance de l'archéologie, terme qu'il est le premier à employer et à définir dans la préface de son ouvrage : Miscellanae eruditae antiquitatis (1679). Il révèle les antiquités de sa ville, et écrit la première histoire imprimée de Genève. Bravant la peste et les corsaires, le mauvais temps et les brigands, il voyage de 1674 à 1676 et fait découvrir à ses contemporains l'Italie, la côte Dalmate, la Grèce et le Levant, dans une relation qui fut traduite en plusieurs langues, et qui devint le guide des voyageurs instruits jusqu'à l'époque romantique. Protestant convaincu, il préfère s'exiler plutôt que d'abjurer, et meurt à Vevey, en décembre 1685, deux mois après la révocation de l'Edit de Nantes.

The Allure of Toxic Leaders Jean Lipman-Blumen 2006 Toxic leaders, both political, like Slobodan Milosevic, and corporate, like Enron's Ken Lay, have always been with us, and many books have been written to explain what makes them tick. Here leadership scholar Jean Lipman-Blumen explains what makes the followers tick, exploring why people will tolerate--and remain loyal to--leaders who are destructive to their organizations, their employees, or their nations. Why do we knowingly follow, seldom unseat, frequently prefer, and sometimes even create toxic leaders? Lipman-Blumen argues that these leaders appeal to our deepest needs, playing on our anxieties and fears, on our yearnings for security, high self-esteem, and significance, and on our desire for noble enterprises and immortality. She also explores how followers inadvertently keep themselves in line by a set of insidious control myths that they internalize. For example, the belief that the leader must necessarily be in a position to "know more" than the followers often stills their objections. In addition, outside forces--such as economic depressions, political upheavals, or a crisis in a company--can increase our anxiety and our longing for charismatic leaders. Lipman-Blumen shows how followers can learn critical lessons for the future and survive in the meantime. She discusses how to confront, reform, undermine, blow the whistle on, or oust a toxic leader. And she suggests how we can diminish our need for strong leaders, identify "reluctant leaders" among competent followers, and even nurture the leader within ourselves. Toxic leaders charm, manipulate, mistreat, weaken, and ultimately devastate their followers. The Allure of Toxic Leaders tells us how to recognize these leaders before it's too late.

Traditions & Encounters: A Global Perspective on the Past Heather Streets Salter 2014-10-07
Traditions & Encounters offers an inclusive vision of the global past—one that is meaningful and appropriate for the interdependent world of contemporary times. Given the diversity of human societies, gathering and organizing the sheer mass of information in a meaningful way is a daunting challenge for any world history survey course. The seven-part chronological organization enables students to understand the development of the world through time, while also exploring broader, big-picture thematic issues in world history. Through new and revised chapter-level and part-level features, the hallmark twin themes of traditions and encounters emerge in greater clarity than ever before in this sixth edition. As a result, students have resources that enable them to move beyond the facts of history and examine the past critically, analyze causes and effects, and recognize similarities and differences across world regions and time periods. By digging deeper into the implications of world history's stories—not just the who, the what, and the where, but also the why and the how—students can make sense of the human past. Connect is the only integrated learning system that empowers students by continuously adapting to deliver precisely what they need, when they need it, and how they need it, so that your class time is more engaging and effective.
